

The Journey Continues

Spanish is the second most-spoken language, with nearly half a billion people speaking it. The global Spanish-speaking Church represents one of the greatest opportunities to reach people for Christ in our world today.

It's also why the mission of Camino Global is more relevant and necessary than ever before!

Your support is crucial to directly impact the Spanish-speaking world for Jesus. So thank you for your continued support to help transform more lives and communities in the year ahead!

Your Direct Impact

Dear Friend,

When people hear about Jesus in their own language, their lives are directly impacted. And that's exactly what you helped make possible this past year!

At Camino Global, we speak the language, understand the culture, and have direct access to countries through our Spanish-speaking church partners. And through your support, you're mobilizing more believers to make disciples and transform communities in Jesus' name.

I pray you'll be encouraged as you read this Impact Report... because your gifts and prayers are making a direct impact on Spanish-speaking people around the globe.

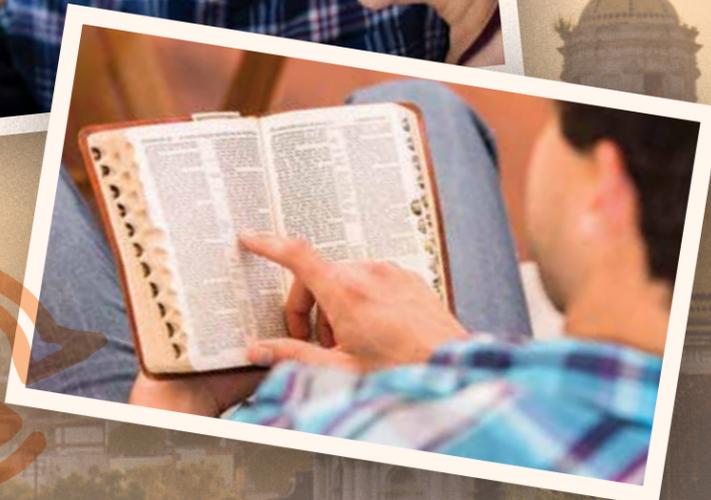

In His service,

'We're going to start to learn who God is'

Natalie Arauco is one of the missionaries you help support through Camino Global. She relates the story of a Spanish-speaking family receiving their first Bibles...

"Last week when we first told you about God, you said you didn't have Bibles," I said to Delfi and his wife. The couple across from me nodded. "Well, God has provided you with Bibles!" said my co-worker, Rebeca, as she handed them two new Bibles.

The husband and wife received them as if they were gold. Their three children flocked to them, chatting excitedly and begging to look at the books. The oldest boy took one of the Bibles and began reading. Then Delfi took his two daughters in his arms and flipped through the pages to show them.

"We're going to start to learn who God is," Delfi said, "And we'll start in John 3:16." He searched the table of contents, and his son carefully ran his finger along the words until they found the passage. Then Delfi began to read aloud, "For God so loved the world..."
